

Beatrice Denise Allen

June 30, 1973 - March 19, 2018

Beatrice Denise Allen was born June 30, 1973, in Chicago, Illinois to Deborah Norman and Terrance Lawrence West. She was preceded in death by her father and her brother, Terrance Smith.

From the age of three, Beatrice was raised under the wings of Otis Haymore. At the age of eight, she visited the Church of God and Saints of Christ with her family and wanted to know if she could come back weekly because she enjoyed the service.

Beatrice graduated out of high school at the age of seventeen, she became a full figured model for John Casablanca's Modeling Center in Chicago. She attended Columbia College and majored in Professional Writing/English Literature and minored in Languages and Childcare.

Beatrice was an Intake Operator for Channel 11, she started her own jewelry business; Vulandra's Gems LLC, and set up shop in Saint Louis, Missouri. Beatrice was returning to school to finish up her studies in Interior Design.

She is survived by: her husband Marcus Allen, her children Amara and Elijah Bivins; her brothers Otis L. (Marisa) Norman and Brian N. Haymore, her sisters Theresa Smith, and Tomeca (Henry) Bacon; her mother Deborah Norman; her grandmother in law Donnie M. Young, and her sister in law

Amber Boland, and a host of aunts, uncles and cousins.

The Rose

It begins as a bud with a few signs of life, then it blossoms into a beautiful flower. Each petal separates, but are parts of the whole: Beautiful, elegant and simple.
